Industry Associations Pledge 2018 Resolutions

by Chasity Ray-Bak

Most folks view New Year's Eve as a time to reflect on the recent year and make resolutions for the next as they strive to improve themselves or their lives.

Collision repair industry associations have also begun preparing for 2018 by beginning to focus on their goals for the year and how they can help their members, advance their education and improve the industry for everyone. Several association leaders shared their 2018 New Year's Resolutions with Autobody News.

In 2017, a lot of associations focused on membership growth, bringing

Year in Review: The Collision Repair Industry in 2017

by Chasity Ray-Bak

Starting with the inauguration of the 45th President, moving on to the solar eclipse and three devastating hurricanes, 2017 has been a year to remember with many major changes impacting the United States.

The collision repair industry has continued to change as well, with new technology and rising legal battles, including the new Consumer Jobs Fairness Act in Texas. Associations around the country offered a variety of educational opportunities through meetings and conferences, and in the New Year

"Replacement Demand" From Hurricane Harvey Overhyped Says Industry Analyst

by Matt Richter, Senior Editor

The total damage Hurricane Harvey inflicted on parts of Texas, particularly the vast Houston area, may never be fully known. In terms of vehicles, the estimates were all over the place. But one thing is known: before the flood waters had even begun to recede, the entire industry was calculating one that begs "replacement demand."

This would come just in the nick of time, as total new vehicle sales in the U.S. had already fallen by more than 100,000 units for the year through July, despite record incentives, historically low interest rates, and massive advertisement-passing marketing. The industry's

Leading Auto Body Associations and Consumer Group Meet With Texas DOI on Safety Concerns

by Matthew Ray-Bak

A delegation, including members of the Texas Body Association of Texas (TABAT), the Houston Auto Body Association (HABA) and Texas March, a statewide consumer group, met with high-level consumer and consumer protection staff at the Texas Department of Insurance (TDI) to discuss advanced insurance industry practices and how they illegally reduce coverage and threaten Texans' safety.

The recent $42 million verdict by a Dallas jury in a class-action lawsuit against multiple for damages caused by unsafe automobile repairs has refocused attention on the safety of the Texas insurance policy. The delegates discussed common practice tactics used by the insurance companies when connecting repairs that may be made to repair the vehicle to a safe vehicle using the state-of-the-art issue of how insurers wrongly steer Texans to body shops with whom they have a pre-existing commercial relationship.

Matt Richards, President of HABA, stated, "Remembering deep the same based on a 'prevalent' rate and not taking into consideration the difference in the investment of individual shop's commitment to training, equipment and certification is not of touch with reality. You cannot compare to repair today's technologically advanced vehicles the way you did even 10 or 15 years ago. You must research and follow the OEM recommended processes and procedures."

"When the insurance company is dictating repair methodology based on 'profits,' then the consumer is put at risk. If consumer safety and proper repairs that correct vehicles as close as possible, the repair shop group raised the
