Latest version 103.0.5060.104 Jul 20th, 2022 Kiwi Browser is an Android browser that allows you to surf the internet at extra high speed without consuming too much memory on your device. Thanks to its lightweight interface and the fact that it was developed using Chromium and WebKit, it'll only take a few seconds to load the content that interests you the most. One of the outstanding aspects of Kiwi Browser is that it lets you add a large number of extensions that other internet browsers for smartphones simply do not support. For example, you'll get to install a number of different ad blockers and get the possibility to install grid view on Google Meet. Kiwi Browser also features an acclaimed night mode that makes your interface display in darker shades close to black. And it comes with an added layer of protection against a number of different threats. You can also manage and select the sites you want displayed on your home screen. Kiwi Browser allows you to visit a number of different websites comfortably from your smartphone. Plus, you'll gain extra speed when it comes to file downloads. Reviewed by Álvaro Toledo Kiwi Browser is a light web browser based on Chromium. It has a default dark mode, as well as the ability to add extensions and use the built-in translator. Yes, Kiwi Browser is completely safe to use, since it is based on Chromium, just like Google Chrome. It is also open-source, so any user can check its code and see that it is completely trustworthy. Kiwi Browser was removed from the Google Play Store in May 2019 for "inappropriate use of the device and network". However, Google corrected this and allowed the app to be downloaded again. To use extensions on Kiwi Browser, simply download the files and add them to the app. To get the files, you can download them from the Chrome extension store or from other sources. 103.0.5060.103 Jul 5th, 2022 103.0.5060.102 Jul 3rd, 2022 103.0.5060.59 Jun 29th, 2022 101.0.4951.57 May 9th, 2022 101.0.4951.48 Apr 28th, 2022 101.0.4951.40 Apr 21st, 2022
