IELTS SPEAKING PART 3

In Part 3 you will be asked a range of questions related to the topic you talked about in Part 2. Below are some common question types and the functional language used to talk about them.

We will use the topic of 'transport' as an example.

Is it faster to get around by bike or on foot in your city?

In this question we are asked to compare two things and we should therefore use comparatives.

Example- Biking is much faster than walking because we have special bike lanes for cyclists.

How has public transport improved?

This gives us an opportunity to show the examiner that we can use past structures.

Example- For as long as I remember the only public transport was buses, but a few years ago they started building a metro.

Will Uber change anything?

We can now demonstrate our knowledge of future clauses.

Example- It's foreseeable that Uber will take over from normal taxis because they are much more affordable.

What do you think about the new ferry?

The examiner has asked us to give our opinion.
Example- I suppose it's a good thing because it will cut journey times significantly, but I'm not so sure about the environmental impact it might have.

What would happen if they introduced transport passes?

You now need to talk about a hypothetical or unreal situation.

Example- If they brought those in, it would make paying for transport much easier and could also lead to more people using buses and trains more often.

Follow the Rainbow to Parrot Mountain Parrot Mountain and Gardens is open March 7th through December (weather permitting), closed on Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve, and Christmas day. We look forward to seeing you! This attraction has it all whether you're 2 years old or 90 years young. Parrot Mountain and Gardens is nestled on four acres of beautiful landscaped gardens. Hundreds and hundreds of beautiful tropical birds and thousands of flowers and plants and trees. Admission $24.95 - Adults (12 years old and up) $12.95 - Children's (2 - 11 years old) Children under the age of 2 are free! $21.95 - Seniors (65 years old and up) Group Rates (35 and up - MUST HAVE RESERVATIONS) $21.95 - Adults (12 years old and up) $11.95 - Children's (2 - 11 years old) Children under the age of 2 are free! If you like Thomas Kinkadee's Art work and the beauty of the Smoky Mountains you're going to love this place. A few remarks from quest who have visited are: I've never seen this many birds in one place, this must be somewhat like the garden of eden must have been like, a spiritual oasis, the most beautiful and peaceful place I have ever been in, Is this heavens gate, Little paradise and so on I've learned so much about the care and well being of these magnificent creatures. Horticulturists say "these gardens rival the best". When you pull up you'll see a 200 foot of dry stacked stone fence like the ones you see in Ireland. A replica of Thomas Kinkadee stairway to paradise. As you start down the beautiful landscaped paved pathways you will come to these unique parrot cottages which house the parrots each one uniquely designed having different roof lines such as slate roofing, clay tile shake roofing, cedar shake roofing, these are just birds cages. Pathways are lined with natural field stone. As you stroll down the paths you will see tropical birds sitting on open perches lining the pathways. Then you will come to a little yellow door which is the secret garden as you enter the garden you swed at the landscaping, then you look up and you'll see toucans, a silvery-cheek hornbill, magpie's, ect., in the garden flying freely. It's beautiful to see birds in flight. When you exit the secret garden you will come to the bird garden there you will find approximately 70 birds on open perches and here you can feed them seed from your hand, have pictures made with them or just walk around and look at them. What's amazing is to see all the different species, sizes and gorgeous colors of the birds up close and personal. When you exit the bird garden you stroll down the beautifully landscaped pathways then you come to the lory aviary. Here you can feed the lories nectar from a cup in your hand. These multicolor birds are gorgeous. Upon exiting the lory aviary you pass by a picturesque waterfall, have a seat in the butterfly, dragonfly or peacock benches next to the waterfall and enjoy the soothing sound. Next you come to the baby bird nursery where you can pet the babies and see them being hand fed. You will see babies at different stages of development. You can even purchase a bird to take home, our trained staff will show you how to take care of your new member of your family. You will be able to purchase everything here to care for your bird, we can also ship your bird if you would like. Then after this exciting adventure you can visit our gift shop where you can find unique items for your home and have lunch sitting out on our deck while viewing the garden and birds. Since its founding in 1975, this international program has assisted more than 120,000 participants in discovering and nurturing their call to Christian service. EFM helps the faithful encounter the breadth and depth of the Christian tradition and bring it into conversation with their experiences of the world as they study, worship, and engage in theological reflection together. The program invites participants into small, mentored groups that provide the framework for understanding life and shaping actions as Christian faith is deepened. EFM seminar groups meet in local settings and online, and provide a four-year curriculum that develops a theologically informed, reflective, and articulate laity. Reading is often perceived as a challenge in IELTS by many students. But if proper reading strategies of skimming and scanning are adopted, this challenge can be overcome. One of the important activities during skimming is finding out keywords in the passage and underlining them. During scanning as well, you can mark keywords in the question as your tendency to match them with similar words in the passage. Since the passages are long and complex, finding out keywords will help you read more efficiently. 1. Find keywords in reading passage An important part of skimming the passage is underlining keywords. While you are reading the passage, you can identify important keywords in the paragraphs that will also help you to better understand the given information. At this time, you should underline keywords to understand the paragraph by abstracting important information from it. You can definitely underline some keywords such as names, locations, facts, figures etc. For example: Names (Names of scientists, people etc. involved in the story) Locations (Town, city, country etc.) Years or dates (1978, 12th Oct 1982 etc.) Figures (1.2 million, 20000 etc.) You may mark any word or phrase which is capitalized e.g. titles of books, event names etc. The reason behind highlighting these keywords is finding easy reference from the passage. If you have a question referring to the year 1978, it would be easy for you to locate it in the passage if you had already underlined it while reading the passage. Otherwise, you would need to read the whole passage to find where 1978 is mentioned and hence, it would consume your time. 2. Find keywords in reading questions In the process of scanning i.e. locating answer of the question, you will first need to read the question carefully to find important keywords you can mark and at the same time, to understand meaning of the question. Keywords you underline are usually nouns, group of nouns, verbs etc. except articles (a, an, the), prepositions (for, in, at etc.) and others. An extremely important strategy of underlining keyword is to identify the focus of the question, especially in MCQs (Multiple Choice Questions). Focus or stem of the question is a word in the question that will help you to choose the right option. For example, focus or stem is highlighted in the following question. Which of the following is most at fault for the Titanic disaster? A. The ship. B. Captain and crew. C. Titanic's owners and builders. D. Standard operating procedure. Sometimes, your keywords are synonyms or similar words, not the exact keyword as given in the passage and hence, you can try to understand its meaning to relate it well with the right paragraph. However, the nearby words and paraphrasing skill will help you understand the meaning of the question. Let's take an example on how to find keywords in question and similar keywords in passage. Question: Recommendations about _____ are given to the wife-to-be. Passage statement: Her guests often tease the bride about her husband and give her advice about married life. Keywords in Question: Similar Keywords in Paragraph: Recommendations, Advice, About, About, Are Given, Give, Wife-to-be, Bride. ANSWER: MARRIED LIFE Explanation is as follows: If you read the question, you can identify keywords as "wife-to-be", "recommendations" and the word nearby the blank, "about". Thus, it may so happen that keywords of question do not match with that in the passage. In this case, you may need to paraphrase them or find out their meanings. Here, in the passage statement, "bride" is the word used in place of "wife-to-be" and "advice" in place of "recommendations". Also, it is to be noted that "is given" in question is paraphrased grammatically for "give" in the passage statement. Another important thing to be noticed is that "about" is exactly the same word nearby the blank in the question as you can find in the passage statement. Thus, you can find the answer as "married life". *Note: Always remember that matching keywords would help you to locate the paragraph and its statements for reference but at the end, it's all about understanding of the question without which answers go wrong. Hence, you should instead try matching the information or the meaning. Practice Questions Question 1: Read the following short passages and questions to find out keywords. Fill the keywords in the table given below: A super-hard metal has been made in the laboratory by melting together titanium and gold. The alloy is the hardest known metallic substance compatible with living tissues, say US physicists. The material is four times harder than pure titanium and has applications in making longer-lasting medical implants, they say. Source: Hardest substance discovered in the laboratory is formed by combining titanium and gold after they are Keywords in question: Similar keywords in paragraph Question 2: Quakes are the ever-present danger for those who live along the Apennine mountain range in Italy. Through the centuries thousands have died as a result of tremors equal to, or not much bigger than, the event that struck in the early hours of Wednesday, part of Italy is always under the threat of being affected by quakes. Keywords in question: Similar keywords in paragraph Question 3: But look closer at the specifics of any quake and the details are much more complicated. The Tyrrhenian Basin, or Sea, which lies to the west of Italy, between the mainland and Sardinia/Corsica, is slowly opening up. Scientists say this is contributing to extension, or "pull-apart", along the Apennines which works at a rate of 3mm per year. Add in movement in the Adriatic where the crust is rotating in an anti-clockwise direction, and you have a fiendishly complex picture. Italy is literally being pushed and pulled every which way. The particulars of an earthquake are studied deeply, it is found that it is very Keywords in question: Similar keywords in paragraph Question 4: We all recall the L'Aquila (Magnitude 6.3) event of 2009 in which 295 died. But go much further back to Avezzano (Magnitude 6.9-7.0) in 1915, which claimed 30,000 lives; and to 1703 when a trio of Magnitude 6 quakes killed at least 10,000 people. Thankfully, we tend not to see deaths on those scales anymore, and that is because of more robust building, better preparation and more co-ordinated emergency responses after the fact. one of the following is NOT the reason why deaths are rare with quakes of magnitude between 6 and 7? Good planning and preparation Quakes are not seen anymore Effective construction of buildings Handling emergency situation well Keywords in question: Similar keywords in paragraph Question 5: But look closer at the specifics of any quake and the details are much more complicated.
