Intramuscular (IM) Injection Guidelines:

Injection Route: 90°

Injection Sites:

Vastus lateralis site: The vastus lateralis site is in the lateral middle third of the thigh between the greater trochanter and the knee. When injecting, lift the vastus lateralis muscle away from the bone.

Ventrogluteal site: The ventrogluteal site: place the palm over the greater trochanter, form a "V" with the middle finger toward the iliac crest and the index finger toward the anterior superior iliac spine. Inject within the center of the "V," below the anterior superior iliac crest.

Deltoid muscle site: The thickest part of the deltoid muscle is 2.5-5cm (1-3 finger breadths) below the lower edge of acromion process of the scapula over the midaxillary line.

Dorsogluteal site: The dorsogluteal site is above an imaginary line between the greater trochanter and the posterior superior iliac crest. The injection is administered laterally and superior to this imaginary line.

Injection Procedure:

- Spread the skin taut, (except in vastus lateralis which requires lifting the muscle) and insert the needle at a 90° angle.
- Pull back plunger slightly. If blood appears, remove needle, dispose properly and prepare a new injection.
- If no blood is present, inject medication slowly.

The needles in just 4 millimeters [mm]) do not seem to impact the function of administered insulin and can actually have advantages in longer needles, since they can not reach muscle tissue again, which makes it less likely that He used insulin to jump the autoizes to avoid pain. While checking that they have the correct type of insulin, they can also verify that insulin is on the date and does not contain particles. It is advisable to choose a size that allows a person to manage his dose in a single shot. For example, it can be easier to measure a dose of 10 units with a syringe of 30 units and a dose of 55 units with a syringe of 100 units. The body uses digestive enzymes to decompose insulin, a person should use a subcutaneous injection to deliver insulin into the fat layer under the skin. The needles of the insulin boom vary from 4 mm to 12 mm long and 29 to 32 diameter manometer. After deciding, a person should clean up the area with a tall of alcohol. Pain the skin. Now that the area is clean, a person should pinch the skin and fat tissue between the thumb and the First finger: Start the needle: With a quick movement, a person can now insert the needle into the pinched skin. The method that the person chooses may depend on the lifestyle, insurance and preferences of it. The risk of injecting into the muscle tissue is very rare when this needle is used, which should not require pinching the skin while injected (it was performed to move the fat tissue from the For a more accurate injection). When the needle is inserted, the person can relax and release the skin. Start insulin: Now that the needle is in place, a person can press slowly in the symbol. Ä molo Inject the dose of insulin.
