Softonic review Keeping up with football scores can be very difficult when you're away from home or have limited access to your computer. Not only is this situation frustrating, but hardcore fans may also miss out on some of the best action in the game. The smartphone app, known as LiveScore, now gives you access to all the latest scores, which are published with just one touch. Perhaps more importantly, this app is free! Site Features and Availabilityhas been operating since 1998, so you can be sure that you are getting a powerful mobile application. This package includes leagues, championships and cup competitions. In fact, there are over 1,000 games to watch in the regular season. While football is a very popular option, you also have a score in basketball, cricket and hockey. Other Benefits LiveScore is a very user friendly system that can be personalized. For example, the date and time can be set for a specific region. The update time can be changed depending on how often you want to receive information. The data transfer is very small and this application does not require much memory. More than 1000 results are displayed to the user every week. Detailed information about the games themselves will be provided. Sports such as American football and baseball are not included. Depending on the receipt, there may be a slight delay in the transmission of results.
