On-Star: A Necessary Car Safety Feature

Finally, after waiting for three years, my car broke down. I bought a '76 Geo Prizm thinking that it wouldn't be bad to have during High School. A car would be a perfect gift for graduation. Well, because I was going to college, I needed something that would keep me safe and last me for more than three years. In addition, I locked my keys in my car all of the time, and I needed a car with a code on the outside of it so I can receive my keys without calling a cop.

I decided to ask my father what type of vehicle I should get. He told me that the most popular type of cars are the ones that are sponsored by On-Star. According to him, On-Star helps in many different ways. Therefore, knowing this, we started our venture to find the perfect car.

We went to a couple of car dealerships in Grand Junction, but none of the cars that were offered satisfied me. So, my dad and I planned a trip to Denver to widen my choices. When we first drove into Denver, there were so many car dealerships to choose from. We just started going to them one by one.

Finally, after a good four hours, we found the car. This car was the perfect one for me. It was a silver, 2003 Pontiac Grand Prix. My dad wouldn't let me get anything that didn't support On-Star, so that helped lower my options. Both of us were very pleased with my decision.

I insisted on having him drive back home, without me behind. I wanted to venture off on my own. I wanted to go visit my friends in Lakewood. I told him I would be back by noon the next day. At first, he was hesitant, but he knew I had On-Star to keep me safe.

My dad and I hugged, and said our "See ya later's." We drove in opposite directions, knowing everything was going to be perfectly fine. As I started driving to Emily and Alex's apartment, I started messing with the On-Star button. To my surprise, I heard a voice from the speakers on the roof of the car. She asked if everything was alright. To my embarrassment, I made up a story and told her that I needed directions. Right away, she helped my needs, and told me how to get to their apartment.
