She's very _____ to the needs of others. You can believe anything she says and rely on her to do anything. Match these adjectives to the qualities described in the questionnaire. Start with these fun vocabulary-building exercises. She's very _____. Be careful about what you say to Jack. English students need to learn how to describe character and personality in English to be successful communicators, but this is no simple task for learners. You could say she's a _____ person. Peter sees the good in everybody and everything. One day she's happy, the next she's depressed. _____ Jennifer always makes sure that everybody is taken care of. He's the type of person who's always whistling at work. He's a very _____ coworker. He's always in a rush and worried he's going to miss something. Search the context of each sentence for clues about which adjectives would make sense. Have students check for the correctness of questionnaire answers together afterward. Note for teachers: For an extension activity, have students write the opposite of each adjective as well. To begin your lesson, pair students up and ask them to give each other the questionnaire in Exercise 1. Listen carefully to what they have to say and record their answers with any additional details or examples they provide. Plan activities that are engaging and relevant to your students to make the content of these lessons more meaningful. This table gives adjectives to describe a person based on whether they do (positive adjectives) or do not (negative adjectives) possess a given quality. In fact, she's probably the most _____ person I know. Don't get on any work getting done with him around. Help them understand that there are countless words that can be used to describe the same quality. For example, a person who displays agreeableness is cooperative. The following five personality traits are considered by psychologists to be the main qualities of character. He doesn't usually work very hard and can be pretty _____.
