The app breaks down each exit on most major interstates in the United States. It costs $20 to access all the app's functions but a lot of actors have said that it's worth it. SlatableIt's an app that really simplifies the complicated aspect of self-taping. Yelp is an international tool filled with reviews of local restaurants in cities across the globe. The ridesharing service is available in over 84 countries and hundreds of cities around the globe. It's the go-to app for searching all sorts of different acting, film, and movie-related information. IMDb helps you: Find the name of a director for a movie/project Look up the actor's credits See trailers and reviews for movies Buy tickets for upcoming films Find listings for movie times and theatres near you Celebrity interviews and more 7. It's more useful in some countries than others, and within the United States, you'll find more reviews for restaurants in bigger cities than you will the country, but you'll get honest feedback on whether or not locals and other travelers recommend a place to eat. For others, that's part of the thrill of a road trip. iPerformIt's an app that pretty much helps you manage your acting career. While it's authorized for use by US Customs, keep in mind that it's only accepted at about 24 airports, and you must be an American or Canadian citizen, though those numbers are sure to grow. It lets you easily record, edit, and share self-tape auditions all in one app. Rehearsal App Rehearsal app is one of the best line memorization apps in the market. If so, you can't go another day without it. CC0/Bottlein/Pixabay Uber You're probably already familiar with Uber, but if you aren't, the app is a must for your next travel date. The basic version of the app is free with the pro version costing $10. CC0/Igorovsyannykov/Pixabay MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET iPhone or Android Apps have become a huge part of our personal and professional lives whether we like it or not. In the last decade, the acting industry has seen a lot of apps emerge that make things easy for actors. It is designed to help you brainstorm, organize, write, edit and publish large writing projects. CC0/Free-Photos/Pixabay Google Trips Google Trips is a newer app, but it works seamlessly with apps like Google Maps, Gmail and Calendar to put together an itinerary for your next trip. CC0/StockSnap/Pixabay Yelp No matter where you go, you have to eat, and finding the best place in town isn't always easy. TableRed or TableRed is a free and easy to use app that gives actors the option to read as well as listen to film scripts, teleplays, and other scripts. CC0/langll/Pixabay Whether you're traveling for business, pleasure or something in between, getting around a new city can be difficult and frightening if you don't have the right information. However, it is costly and is only available for the ios platform. You will have to pay monthly subscription fees that will be charged to your iTunes account. If you are new to actor's access use this section of their website to setup your account easily. Features: Unlimited and instant submissions for actor's access members Look at all the roles listed for a specific project Receive instant notifications when a role matches your profile Submit to auditions and respond to invitations Review your schedule auditions 5. It searches for information like flight details, hotel reservations and car rental receipts and provides you with a list of things you may like to do in the city you're traveling to. When you have no idea where you're going, how to get there or you simply don't want to navigate traffic in a new place, it's a trusty standby you can rely on practically anywhere. It also comes in handy when you've had a bit too much to drink or those new shoes rubbed blisters on your feet and you can't get back to your hotel. To keep using it you have to pay a one-time fee of $20. 11. This app is only available on ios devices. 12. Shakespeare Pro This app includes the complete works of Shakespeare (41 plays, 154 sonnets, and 6 poems, including "doubtful" works). Shakespeare Pro is available both on the Google Play Store and the Apple store. It helps users produce submission-ready manuscripts and screenplays. As an actor, it helps you focus on your craft rather than learning to use a new tool. Get directions to your next destination, and find out how long it will take to get there via car, foot, public transit or bike. It helps you to easily find casting calls and auditions in your local area and apply to them. The mobile app provides you with a majority of the features the desktop version has.
